

You're getting married? Yay!

While you are busy wedding planning, don't forget to think about your future as a married couple. Stay happy and healthy by reviewing health insurance as soon as you get back from your honeymoon. You have only a limited time to act, depending on what type of coverage you have.

If you or your future spouse already has coverage, update your health plan once you get married.

Get covered if you don't have health insurance

If you are uninsured, marriage is a good time to think about getting covered. Not only can health insurance help protect your family's health and finances, your marriage may allow you to enroll in a health plan at HealthCare.gov (also called a Marketplace plan) even when open enrollment is closed.

- Once you are married, you and your spouse may qualify for a special enrollment period if one of you has had health insurance at least one day in the past 60 days.
- If you and your spouse meet income and residency requirements, you may qualify for the Oregon Health Plan. You can enroll in the Oregon Health Plan at any time.

Update HealthCare.gov as your family grows and your life changes

If you have a Marketplace plan, other changes you should report to HealthCare.gov include:

- The birth, adoption, or placement of a child in your home
- Getting or losing a job
- Moving to a new address
- Gaining or losing eligibility for employer coverage or the Oregon Health Plan
- Any other change that affects your family size, income, or enrollment
